

Tensions at Ronnie's flat-
warming partyRonnie
chooses Jack,
but there's heartbreak
ahead

Goodbye to LOVE

Jack wants to marry Ronnie, but her insistence that they can never escape their pasts prompts him to make a momentous decision...

Aware of how much Ronnie is missing Roxy, Jack resolves to cheer her up this week by throwing her a flat-warming party. But Phil's in no mood to play happy families and gives his cousin an ultimatum — it's him or her lover...

Horrified, but knowing how much he loves her, Ronnie chooses Jack but she's clearly devastated by Phil's rejection. So her former husband decides to prove just how much she really does mean to him by buying an engagement ring and asking her to marry him — again!

'Jack thinks he and Ronnie are supposed to be together,' explains Scott Maslen, who plays him. 'His brain tells him to steer well clear, but his heart tells him that he loves her and he wants to show her how committed he is to her. But then Lola asks them to look after Lexi for the afternoon and as all the old issues start to resurface, they realise they're just dreaming — they'll never be able to have that normal life.'

So Jack decides to turn his back on Walford... 'He realises it's not going to work and he just can't be around Ronnie,' sighs

Scott. 'He needs to get away before he's led down the same old path again.'

His ex-wife is gutted to see him go and she tries to make amends with Phil, but he's having none of it. So when Carl approaches her with a business proposition, will Ronnie's despair lead her to do something she'll regret forever?

