

15 famous South Tynesiders tell us their New Year's Resolutions

Britain's Got Talent winner Jamie Lambert has had a busy 2015 as part of classical boyband Collabro.

The 24-year-old former South Tyneside District Hospital worker has travelled the world performing to his fans, released his second album, Act Two, and announced a UK tour next year.

He said: "I'm going to try and complain less about drinking too much wine. I'm also going to try and explore more cool places in the UK."

