

Everybody follow the star: pupils sing carols with Pixie

Lizzie Edmonds

PIXIE LOTT today backed Penny for London by singing Christmas carols with primary school children who will benefit from the charitable scheme.

The pop star and former Strictly Come Dancing contestant joined pupils from Islington's Copenhagen Primary at St Pancras International station this morning to sing for commuters.

Penny for London is a world-first giving project: every time a registered user pays for a journey on London Transport with a contactless payment card, a "microdonation" of between 1p and 10p is donated to the Mayor's Fund for London. The money will be given to groups helping disadvantaged young Londoners – with 10 per cent going to the Standard's Dispossessed Fund.

Lott, 23, who also sang her new single Caravan Of Love, said: "It gives me great pleasure to be able to help those young people from deprived areas in the capital, especially at Christmas time." To register your contactless card, visit www.pennyforlondon.com.

GLENN COPUS

Singing live: Pixie Lott at St Pancras today with children from a school that will benefit from the Penny for London charity scheme

