boasts the most consecutive weeks in the Top Ten by a British artist ever, after an epic 73-week stint. He overtook ADELE's 21.

AT one point this week new act WSTRN were actually ahead of ADELE in the battle for No1, but in the end the hip-hop trio had to settle for No4 with their addictive debut In2. Still a great result.

THE woman behind this year's John Lewis ad song, AURORA, just misses the Top Ten with her take on OASIS track Half The World Away, which lands at No11. The original also re-enters at No56.
